DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's amendment and accompanying remarks filed June 1, 2007 are acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 10 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Anderson et al., U.S. Patent Number 5,830,548.

Anderson discloses an article of manufacture such as a fiberboard that comprises a fibrous such as hemp, ramie, jute or sisal (see reference claims 107, 127-128 and 146) material homogeneously mixed with a binder material such as polylactic acid (see reference claim 118). Column 10, lines 23-65 of the reference discloses that the fibers have a concentration in the range of 20% to 90% as per instant claim 14. Anderson's claims 137 and 139 disclose the tensile strength of the article ranging from 0.05 MPa to about 80 MPa and a density of greater than 1.5 g/cm³. The tensile strength of the Anderson reference reads on the tensile strength of 30 MPa or more for the present claims. Additionally, the density of the article of the Anderson reference reads on the density of 0.2 g.cm³ for the present article (fiberboard). The Anderson reference has the same components as the present claims. Subjecting the fiberboard to a high temperature and high humidity is a process limitation and is not given any patentable weight. Therefore, the article of the Anderson reference is the same as the fiberboard of the present claims.

4. Claims 11-13 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed June 1, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that the Anderson reference teaches a laminate structure and not the fiberboard presently claimed. Additionally, applicant argues that the presently claimed fiberboard does not include starch as a binder and a composite laminate structure having another laminated sheet as disclosed in Anderson. Anderson's claims 107 and 118 disclose (ii) a fibrous material substantially homogeneously dispersed throughout a binding matrix wherein the binding matrix can be polylactic acid. Additionally, claim 127 of the Anderson reference discloses that the fibrous material is a natural fiber. The Anderson reference comprises a fibrous material comprising a natural fiber and polylactic acid resin mixed in the natural fiber, as does the present claims. The Anderson reference has the same components as the fiberboard of the present claims. It would be expected that the density and initial bending strength would be the same in the Anderson reference as it is for the fiberboard of the present claims. Also, the present claim language is "open" language and allows for other materials to be present. The rejection is maintained.

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

Art Unit: 1774

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
